Message from Head of School

Dr Feras Hamza,
Head
School of Humanities,
Social Sciences and Health

A warm welcome to the School of Humanities, Social Sciences and Health!

With the emergence of the UAE as a pioneer of technological advancement and an architect of urban innovation in the region, there is an ever-increasing demand for outstanding leaders who can drive forward this ambitious agenda on a global platform.

The School of Humanities, Social Sciences and Health was launched in Autumn 2018 and offers programs in Education, Media & Communications, International Relations and Nursing.

The aim of the School is to nurture the timeless skills of reasoning and critical thinking, and to equip a new generation of visionaries with the qualities for transformational leadership. The School's success is driven by the expertise and teaching experiences of our respectable academics who contribute to a unique learning experience.

The skills that Humanities students develop will be vital in securing a sustainable future. We all recognise that technology has the capacity to transform our lives, but it cannot answer the critical question of how to use technology to address the major concerns of the 21st century: the sustainability of increasingly mobile and mixed human societies and the sustainability of our planet and its resources; this is where the Humanities and Social Sciences come in.

Humanities and Social Science education has long taken a back seat to technology-based disciplines in emerging societies where technological innovation is seen as the key driver for growth. Yet in recent years there has been a realisation that technology must serve a purpose larger than itself.

The fundamental resource kit that future leaders will need to face long-term global challenges are all developed through Humanities-based enquiry- inquisitive discourse, logical reasoning, emotional intelligence, ethics, empathy, and virtue.

I'm very glad that we are able to offer the opportunity to develop these competencies through our Humanities programs at UOWD, and moreover, I'm excited to see the foundations that we have laid translate into a dedicated faculty for these disciplines.

We look forward to many more milestones and also hope to personally welcome you to the School in the near future!

About University of Wollongong in Dubai

Established in 1993, University of Wollongong in Dubai (UOWD) is the first international and Australian university in the UAE, and is now part of a global brand that has campuses in Australia, Hong Kong and Malaysia.

With a 27-year track record, the University offers internationally-recognised degrees that are accredited by the Commission for Academic Accreditation (CAA) of the UAE Ministry of Education, licensed by the Knowledge and Human Development Authority (KHDA) and quality assured by the Tertiary Education Quality Standards Agency (TEQSA), Australia's independent national quality assurance and regulatory agency for higher education.

UOWD's curriculum and teaching practices reflect those of UOW Australia, which ranks among the top 1%* of universities worldwide. The institution offers 43 programs including foundation courses and bachelor's and master's degrees spanning over 10 industry sectors, such as engineering, business, ICT, healthcare, communications and media. These degrees are formally recognised by leading professional organisations such as AACSB, CIPD, ACCA, CPA, AHRI, CIM, CIMA, CIPS, EFQM and ACS.

UOWD has a strong cohort of highly qualified academic staff, each holding PhD degrees and recognised as leaders in their fields of expertise, with strong global and industry ties. The faculty members are active researchers, involved in research activities across 100 different fields.

UOWD boasts many alumni who have made a mark across the world through notable contributions in various industries and professional sectors at leading multinational organisations such as Microsoft, GE, IBM, Deloitte, Fedex, 3M, Adidas, Amazon, Emirates, Etisalat, ADCB and Pepsico.

UOWD offers international students the opportunity to transfer between the university's campuses for a holistic global higher education experience.

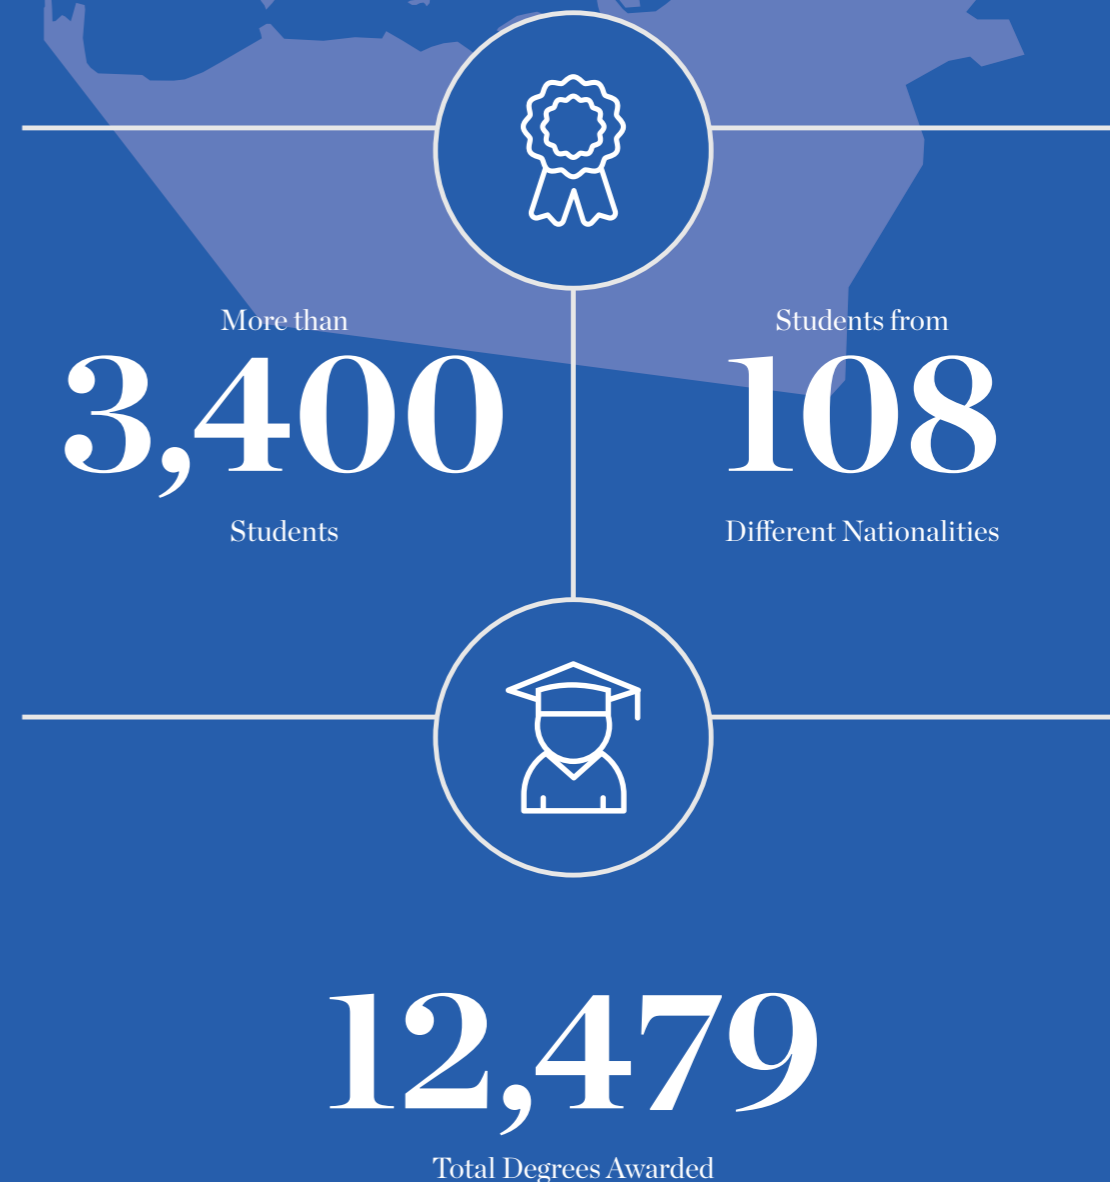

As part of its continued pursuit of excellence in teaching, research, industry engagement and student experience, UOWD inaugurated its new purpose-built 200,000-square-foot campus at Dubai Knowledge Park in 2020. Featuring cutting-edge technologies, modern architecture, and a mix of traditional and innovative learning spaces, the campus provides an enriched experience to meet the demands of today's student population, while supporting the teaching staff and community research projects.

UOWD is the highest ranked Australian university in the UAE, and currently has over 3,500 students from 108 nationalities and a global community of 152,000 alumni.

Master of Media and Communication

Master of Media and Communication

The Master of Media and Communication (MMC) explores the dynamic and rapid pace of media industries, and/or what is referred to as media arts, social media, and creative enterprises-technology in immersive environments. The program takes a cross-disciplinary, future facing approach with its subject offerings. Emphasis is placed on:

- Developing advanced skills in critical analysis, design thinking and creative problem solving
- Gaining an in-depth understanding of the social and cultural significance of the media industry, media processes and media making
- Learning to work within the evolving media landscape and how to adapt to the technological changes happening within the industry

Industry Focussed

Today's media environment requires innovation, collaboration and creative problem solving. A high demand exists to employ people who can work independently from concept to completion with minimal supervision. The MMC program is specifically designed to prepare graduates for this working environment. Emphasis is placed on developing soft skills like media presentation techniques, facilitation, and project management and organisation. These newly acquired and refined skills, techniques and proficiencies are showcased in the final capstone project. Additionally, students have opportunities to network with industry leaders and alumni at program events, media events, community events, and field trips.
